Our 100% THC-FREE hemp oil will help reduce inflammation on your skin and can help with blemishes. This multi-use spray is great for your face or body and can be used on any skin type or tone.*

Active Ingredients:

Hemp Extract

Used to maintain homeostasis in the body. It also has anti-inflammatory effects on the skin. TLC's hemp oil is of the highest potency and is sourced from a small farm in Kentucky, which boasts to be one of the cleanest farms in America. It is 100% THC-FREE.

Aloe Vera Leaf Juice

Aids in improving skin texture and prevent wrinkles. May also help reduce the healing time of burns.

Witch Hazel

Aids in reducing inflammation. May reduce skin irritation, helping sensitive or inflamed skin. Witch hazel is rich in tannins, which are bitter-tasting substances that are naturally occurring. These tannins may help protect skin against damage.

Grapefruit Essential Oil

This essential oil has antibacterial and antimicrobial effects. Grapefruit essential oil may also help with acne by controlling bacteria levels.

Sweet Orange Essential Oil

Sweet Orange Oil is a great choice for lifting your mood and helping to reduce stress. It can also help reduce bacteria levels because it is in the citrus family and is similar to grapefruit.

Lemongrass Essential Oil

Lemongrass is a tropical herb used in cooking and homeopathic medicine. It may help with headaches because it contains a component that is similar to aspirin. It may also help with pain and inflammation. Lemongrass also has antioxidant properties, which may help your body fight off free radicals.

Litsea Fruit Oil

Litsea, also called 'May Chang' is an evergreen shrub that is native to Southern Asia and is used in homeopathic medicine. Litsea is known to have anti-microbial effects, as well as antioxidant effects. This may help improve your skin's appearance and may also help with acne problems.

Organic White Willow Bark Extract

White Willow Bark has been used in China for centuries as a homeopathic pain reliever. It may be used as an anti-inflammatory, due to its active ingredient, salicin.

Vitamin B3

Vitamin B3 is also known as Niacin. It plays a major role in the body by converting food into energy by assisting enzymes. It also acts as an antioxidant, helping protect skin cells from sun damage. It can also aid in reducing joint pain.

Vitamin B5

Vitamin B5 is also called Pantothenic Acid, and in the body, it helps produce energy by breaking down fats and carbohydrates. It can also help with controlling acne.

Omega-3

Omega-3 is a fatty acid that is very important for brain health. It can also aid in reducing inflammation.

Omega-6

Omega-6, like Omega-3, is a fatty acid that is essential for your body. Omega-6 is converted into energy in your body. It can help your skin stay hydrated, and also helps skin stay plump and youthful.

Vitamin A

Vitamin A can aid with blemishes. A healthy level of vitamin A may help reduce the production of keratin in your hair follicles, leading to clearer skin.

Vitamin C

Vitamin C limits ultraviolet (UV) damage, because it is an antioxidant. It may also help decrease wrinkles because it is known to stimulate the production of collagen.

Tea Tree Oil

Tea Tree Oil, is derived from steaming the leaves of the Australian tea tree. Tea Tree Oil may be used to treat many skin problems, such as acne.

Polysorbate 20

Polysorbate 20 is derived from sorbitol, which can be found in apples, pears, peaches, and prunes. This is used as an emulsifier and surfactant. Surfactants decrease oils and dirt, allowing them to easily be washed away.

Vitamin E (Tocopheryl Acetate)

Vitamin E is an essential nutrient and antioxidant. It is found in many lotions and is used for its moisturizing effects. It is beneficial for wound healing and may help with blemishes.

Germaben II

Germaben II is an all-natural liquid preservative, and it inhibits the growth of bacteria, yeast, and molds in cosmetic products.
